Asylum Seekers and Refugees - including refugee resettlement

Wellbeing and Work for Refugee Integration – new Asylum Migration and Integration Fund (AMIF) employment project for refugees across the East of England

The Strategic Migration Partnership has secured funding to deliver a region-wide project to overcome the barriers to employment to facilitate more refugees moving from benefits into employment.

The AMIF project, which is ultimately funded by the European Union but administered in the UK by the UK Responsible Authority (UKRA), will run from April 2020 until December 2022 and will have three strands which are being delivered by partners across the region:

1. A mental health and wellbeing programme to overcome the effects of past trauma and allow refugees to move forward into good mental health and improve their confidence, recognising that a good job can help restore a sense of purpose and self-worth.
2. A network of employment advisers to assess refugees' past skills and experience, identify gaps, look at the opportunities in the local job market and produce action plans to move refugees into training and work; this strand also includes employer liaison officers to build relationships with employers of all kinds in the region and facilitate connections with employers willing to give refugees work experience leading to employment.
3. A series of "English and Skills" courses for various industries. The aim of these courses is to ensure refugees have the specific skills they need to enter a particular industry. The first course has already been produced and facilitates work in the hospitality sector, including obtaining a food hygiene certificate. The other industries have yet to be decided but may include health and social care, childcare with a focus on nurseries, construction industry with CSCS cards and logistics/warehousing/factory work.

Immigration statistics, year ending March 2020

There were 35,099 asylum applications (main applicants only) in the UK in the year ending March 2020, 11% more than the previous year, but lower than the recent peak in the year ending June 2016 (36,546). In the year ending March 2020, 54% of initial decisions on asylum applications were grants of asylum, humanitarian protection or alternative forms of leave (such as discretionary leave or UASC leave). This was the highest initial decision grant rate on record, up from 39% in the previous year.

The Vulnerable Person Resettlement Scheme (VPRS) accounted for over three-quarters (4,030) of those resettled in the UK in year ending March 2020. 19,768 refugees have been resettled since the government announced the target of resettling 20,000 refugees under the scheme. The East of England has resettled 957 people under VPRS and 100 under VCRS (1057 in total).

The Department for Education (DfE) has announced that it is temporarily extending free school meal eligibility during the COVID-19 outbreak. This includes some children of groups who have no recourse to public funds (NRPF), including children of families with no recourse to public funds with a right to remain in the UK on grounds of private and family life under Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights and; children of families receiving support under Section 17 of the Children Act 1989 who are also subject to a no recourse to public funds restriction. Two further booklets have been produced and are now waiting for final approval from Brussels before they can be published and translated. These focus on senior citizens and 3rd country nationals who are family members of EU nationals.

There is also a Facebook page called European Union in the UK. It has the library of videos on the rights of EU citizens and family members who reside in the UK. Immigration rules changes widening access to the EU settlement scheme to victims of domestic violence or abuse

On 14 May updates to the Immigration Rules were laid in Parliament, which includes changes to the EU Settlement Scheme. The rule changes will widen access to the scheme to victims of domestic violence or abuse. If a family member’s relationship with an EEA citizen breaks down permanently as a result of domestic violence or abuse, this, coupled with their own continuous residence in the UK, will be recognised as part of their application. This is consistent with the Government’s wider commitment to tackling domestic violence and abuse as well as protecting and supporting victims of it.

The rule changes also mean that a family member applying to the EU Settlement Scheme (EUSS) or for an EUSS family permit may also be required to provide a certified English translation of (or a Multilingual Standard Form to accompany) a document as evidence of the relevant family relationship.

In addition, the rule changes mean that family members of British or dual British-Irish citizens who are people of Northern Ireland will be able to apply for status under the EU Settlement Scheme.

This delivers on the commitment the UK Government made in the ‘New Decade, New Approach’ agreement in January 2020 which restored the power sharing executive in Northern Ireland.

Support for modern slavery victims affected by coronavirus

Individuals supported through the modern slavery victim care contract will be allowed to stay in government-funded safe accommodation for the next three months, as the government steps up measures to protect the vulnerable from coronavirus. Through the National Referral Mechanism (NRM) individuals are able to access support including accommodation for at least 45 days if found to be potential victims. Where they would ordinarily be assisted to move on from their accommodation, this temporary change will ensure that these individuals remain safely in accommodation.

Free complex casework training for EU Settlement Scheme from Greater London Authority

The GLA is delighted to launch their programme of free complex casework training for the EU Settlement Scheme, developed by legal partners Here For Good and supported by the EU Delegation to the UK.

Since the Brexit referendum, the EU citizens' rights sector has done an incredible job in supporting vulnerable and at-risk EU, EEA and Swiss citizens, as well as their family members. As you will appreciate, however, the months ahead are arguably the most challenging in helping the most vulnerable secure their rights in the UK. Many of those still left to apply to the EU Settlement Scheme face additional barriers to obtaining their correct status, but existing advice and support services are under extreme pressure given the scale of the challenge and the complexity of some cases. As such, it is vital that the sector is upskilled and as much capacity is created as possible.

Delivered via Zoom by Here for Good's team of experienced immigration solicitors, these sessions are open to all organisations and individuals across the UK, and will equip caseworkers to effectively support those with complex cases in at-risk groups, including children in care, the elderly, and applicants with criminal records.

Designed to complement existing OISC training, these short sessions are a great opportunity for professional development within the sector and can serve as a basis from which to gain further OISC accreditation if desired.

Registration is now open for sessions taking place throughout June and July at www.london.gov.uk/EUSS

Your organisation will be able to sign up multiple individuals using the same form. After registration, you'll receive a confirmation email, and we will follow up before your chosen session(s) with details on how to access the Zoom meeting and training resources.

Funding

FY20-21 EU Settlement Scheme Grant Funding

On Friday 6 March 2020, the Home Office announced a further £8 million of funding to help vulnerable EU citizens apply to the EU Settlement Scheme (EUSS) for the 2020-2021 financial year.

The new £8 million of funding will ensure that those who are the most vulnerable continue to receive a wide range of support online, over the phone and in person to help them apply to the EU Settlement Scheme.

The bidding process for this funding will be launched in early May 2020. In light of COVID-19, we have decided to extend the competitive bidding process to allow a longer period of time for bids to be submitted.

Funding will be available to Voluntary and Community Sector (VCS) organisations willing to support vulnerable EU citizens and their family members with making EUSS applications.

Funding will also be available across the UK for Local Authorities (LAs) and local government associations or organisations providing support services (or equivalents in the Devolved Administrations).

The Home Office is making a level of continuity funding available to the existing 57 Grant-Funded Organisations through to the end of September 2020. As a result, the competitive bidding process will be for up to £4.5 million and will initially cover the period 1 October 2020 to 31 March 2021.

Funding for Racial Justice Initiatives

Applications are now being accepted for a new Fund that provides financial support to individuals and organisations that are working to redress the impact of COVID-19 and beyond on those who identify as People of Colour (POC).

During the first round of funding, a total of £500,000 will be awarded to:

- Historic and newly formed people of colour led organisations who are at risk of closure because of COVID-19 and the impending recession.
- Community organisations, businesses and enterprises that are built on the social relationships, intergenerational knowledge and lived experience of people of colour in their work and infrastructure.
- Community groups and community-led organisations that are led by people of colour or whose efforts are working towards racial justice and equity to continue their work.
- Organisations, networks, and community groups that offer vital services and spaces of refuge to communities of colour; especially those who experience multiple forms of marginalisation. These include migrant rights groups, support in detention centres, LGBTQI groups, faith groups, advocates and those responding on issues affecting people of colour disproportionately (e.g., detentions, policing, gentrification, physical and mental health).

Three types of funding are available:

- Emergency and Recovery Funding: Grants of between £5,000 and £30,000 for organisations looking for smaller investments or for emergency funding, needed to sustain themselves and meet the needs of people of colour within the coronavirus/COVID-19 crisis.
- Long Term Structural Change Funding: Grants of between £30,000 and £50,000 for organisations and ideas that present transformational and radical alternatives that will support people of colour, creating solutions for change on a systemic level. This can include emergency funding required to sustain organisations who are working to make long-term structural change for communities of colour.
- Funding for Individuals: Grants of between £5,000 and £30,000 for individuals who identify as change-makers, activists, innovators, social leaders, ecosystem builders and artists who are carrying out their work outside of existing organisational structures.
